Understanding Complex Sentences 2003-09-09 this book provides a detailed study and a novel minimalist account of copular sentences in russian focusing on case marking alternations nominative vs instrumental and drawing a distinction between two types of copular sentences on the assumption that merge is defined in the simplest way possible it is argued that not all syntactic structures are a nti symmetrical one of the copular sentence types is analyzed as a poster child for symmetrical structures while the other type is treated as asymmetrical the originality of this study lies in treating the copula in the two types of copular sentences neither as completely identical nor as two distinct lexical items instead the two types of copula are derived through the process of semantic bleaching furthermore it is argued that the two types of the copula need to combine with post copular phrases of different categories it is concluded that russian draws a distinction between saturated dps and unsaturated nps in spite of its renowned lack of overt articles

Analysing Sentences 2016-02-12 in order to bring some minimal amount of order to the chaos that almost inevitably attends the use of the word existential in a linguistic investigation the author reserved the term existential sentence es to designate all and only those english sentences in which there appears an occurrence of the unstressed non deictic existential there thus the term will be used as a characterisation of a class of syntactic objects not as a semantic description with es sentences including formations such as there were several people talking and there ensued a riot perhaps nowhere else do we find so clearly displayed the complexity and subtlety of the syntactic and semantic interactions which determine the nature of human language

The Home and School Supplement 2015-10-23 the topic addressed in this volume lies within the study of sentence processing which is one of the major divisions of psycholinguistics the goal has been to understand the structure and functioning of the mental mechanisms involved in sentence comprehension most of the experimental and theoretical work during the last twenty or thirty years has focused on first pass parsing the process of assigning structure to a sentence as its words are encountered one at a time from left to right one important guiding idea has been to delineate the processing mechanisms by studying where they fail for this purpose we identify types of sentences which perceivers have trouble assigning structure to an important class of perceptually difficult sentences are those which contain temporary ambiguities since the parsing mechanism cannot tell what the intended structure is it may make an incorrect guess then later on in the sentence the structure assignment process breaks down because the later words do not fit with the incorrect structural analysis this is called a garden path situation when it occurs the parsing mechanism must somehow correct itself and find a different analysis which is compatible with the incoming words this reanalysis process is the subject of the research reported here
