Vocational Education and Training in Times of Economic Crisis 2016-12-20

this book brings together a broad range of approaches and methodologies relevant to international comparative vocational education and training revealing how youth in transition is affected by economic crises it provides essential insights into the strengths and weaknesses of the various systems and prospects of vet in contexts ranging from north america to europe e g spain germany or the uk to asia such as china thailand and india though each country examined in this volume is affected by the economic crisis in a different way the effects are especially apparent for the young generation in many countries the youth unemployment rate is still very high and the job perspectives for young people are often limited at best the contributions in this volume demonstrate that vet alone cannot solve these problems but can be used to support a smooth transition from school to work if the quality of vet is high and the status and job expectations are good vet can help to fill the skills gap especially at the intermediate skill level furthermore vet can also offer a realistic alternative to the university track for young people in many countries

Changing the Status Quo 2018-01-23

have you ever wondered where the ever expanding layers of bureaucracy are taking us in the field of education this book challenges us to think carefully about this question the status quo in education consists of policies practices and power structures impacting the way we teach and prevent students from learning in meaningful and significant ways assessment techniques drive our teaching practices resulting in a learning process that students strongly dislike technology like powerpoint presentations and clickers force students to pay attention to lectures but the end result is the same memorizing information for exams it is causing students to become less focused on comprehending what they read it is also physically changing the way students read focusing on small sound bites on what they believe is necessary to remember for tests discriminating against students of color continues to be a prevalent problem as well data show that white educators consist of a huge majority often lacking cultural awareness in our classrooms reading this book will inspire you to become a courageous educator and implement meaningful changes in your classroom on how to assess your students what kind and how much technology to use and how to sensitively treat educators and students of color

The Challenge to Care in Schools 1992-01-01

this book challenges the traditional organization of high school studies around the academic disciplines noddings argues that such emphasis shortchanges not only the noncollege bound whose interests are almost ignored but even those who are preparing for college the latter receive schooling for the head but little for the heart and soul noddings counteracts this condition insisting that our aim should be to encourage the growth of competent caring loving and lovable persons a moral priority that our educational system ignores she argues that liberal education dictates what areas of pedagogy are socially acceptable ignoring a student s wider range of abilities and undervalues skills attitudes and capacities traditionally associated with women contrarily it is precisely the competence for caring nodding posits that will prepare our students for the environment of the school the world of work the realm of ideas and ultimately for each other

Challenging Learning Through Dialogue (International Edition) 2017-01-31 dialogue is one of the best vehicles for learning how to think how to be reasonable how to make moral decisions and how to understand another person s point of view it is supremely flexible instructional collaborative and rigorous at its very best dialogue is one of the best ways for participants to learn good habits of thinking there is also substantial evidence that teachers currently talk too much in classes often only waiting 8 seconds after asking a question before jumping in with the answer if a student doesn t quickly volunteer this book guides teachers through the different types of dialogue and how they can be used to enhance students learning

Opening Third Spaces for Research in Education 2021-06-09

a 2022 spe outstanding book award winner opening third spaces for research in education challenges dominant educational research methods it rejects the reductive binaries normalized in social science research theory practice objective subjective quantitative qualitative drawing from multiple fields and eras the book opens third spaces between these artificial poles to help researchers expand interpretations and possibilities for research critiquing the current focus on the measurement of student learning outcomes and high stakes assessment the book offers conceptual tools and case examples to support educators in reconceptualizing research the book critiques the modernist notion that learning is an individual mental process of acquiring knowledge or skills it argues instead that learning is inextricably entangled with social relations and cannot be isolated or controlled no matter how scientifically rigorous researchers try to be in their study designs this challenges the current goal of educational research instruction to design valid and reliable studies that provide evidence for best practices and reimagines it as opening third spaces to expand opportunities and approaches for inquiry perfect for courses such as foundations of social and cultural analysis of education agency resistance and identity in education critical and postmodern pedagogies culture cognition and power issues in education modernity and postmodernity in social thought and education integrating research and practice in social justice education cultural studies in education science technology and social research after eurocentrism critical pedagogy language performance and power sociology of education ideology racial politics and public policy sociology of knowledge seminar in cross national studies of educational problems participatory action research and programming
