The Status of Student Involvement in University Governance in Kenya 2017-05-05

this book examines the concept of the democratization of governance in universities in kenya with particular emphasis on students involvement in governance processes and decision making data were collected from members of the student community utilizing a structured self administered questionnaire and from purposively selected key informants and focus group discussants drawn from kenyatta university representing the public sector and the united states international university representing the private sector the guiding argument for the study was that shared governance one of the principles of good governance is critical in enabling the universities to deliver their visions and the missions effectively the results revealed that while in principle kenyan universities have embraced democratic governance in which all stakeholders including students have a role to play in practice they continue to violate the core principles of good governance particularly shared governance specifically students who are major stakeholders in university education are largely excluded from significant structures of governance thereby limiting their influence and participation although their representation is mainly provided via student self governance organs unions associations and or councils their effectiveness is undermined considerably by the lack of trust and confidence of the student body and the unending manipulation by top university administrators and external political actors student active involvement in decision making is mainly confined to lower levels such as the school faculty and departmental programme the authors call for a paradigm shift in the involvement of students in the governance of universities in ways that discourage the current culture of tokenism and political correctness that characterizes public and private universities in kenya this book explores emerging populations of mobile international students in order to consider innovative and inclusive approaches for a more equitable and socially just higher education for new generations of international students it offers critical reflections on the intersections of race place and space at universities hosting international students across multiple geographic and cultural contexts the volume is designed to catalyze debate on how international student learning and exchange needs to be reimagined for new generations of students in a world of increasing complexity and virtual mobility international student mobility in higher education is intended to serve as an educational experience that speaks to the need for more interculturally sensitive and globally competent learners however internationalization practices like study abroad have increasingly been influenced by neoliberalism and dynamics of commodification and consumerism emphasizing the private benefits of such experiences in terms of the social and economic benefits to individual participants this raises the question of inequality in such internationalization practices who is benefitting from it as post secondary institutions around the world become more and more internationalized what are the undesirable effects of these developments given the rapid expansion of research on both internationalization and inequality in higher education it is foreseeable that this book will become a much referenced text within the field and profession
